

Typology 7: unidentified works

Works of unknown purpose.

We sometimes come across underground works, the purposes of which are unknown. Due to inadequate or limited research, these works remain under the unidentified, 'unusual' or even 'mysterious' category. Others, despite in-depth research, may pose several unanswered questions, both in relation to their size and on account of the continuous structural interventions and adaptations, the total absence of internal and external elements or due to the lack of written documentation.
